

The background features a stylized mountain range with green peaks and a yellow-orange foreground. The text is centered in a serif font.

What we discovered about Scotland's natural environment

The beauty of the landscape

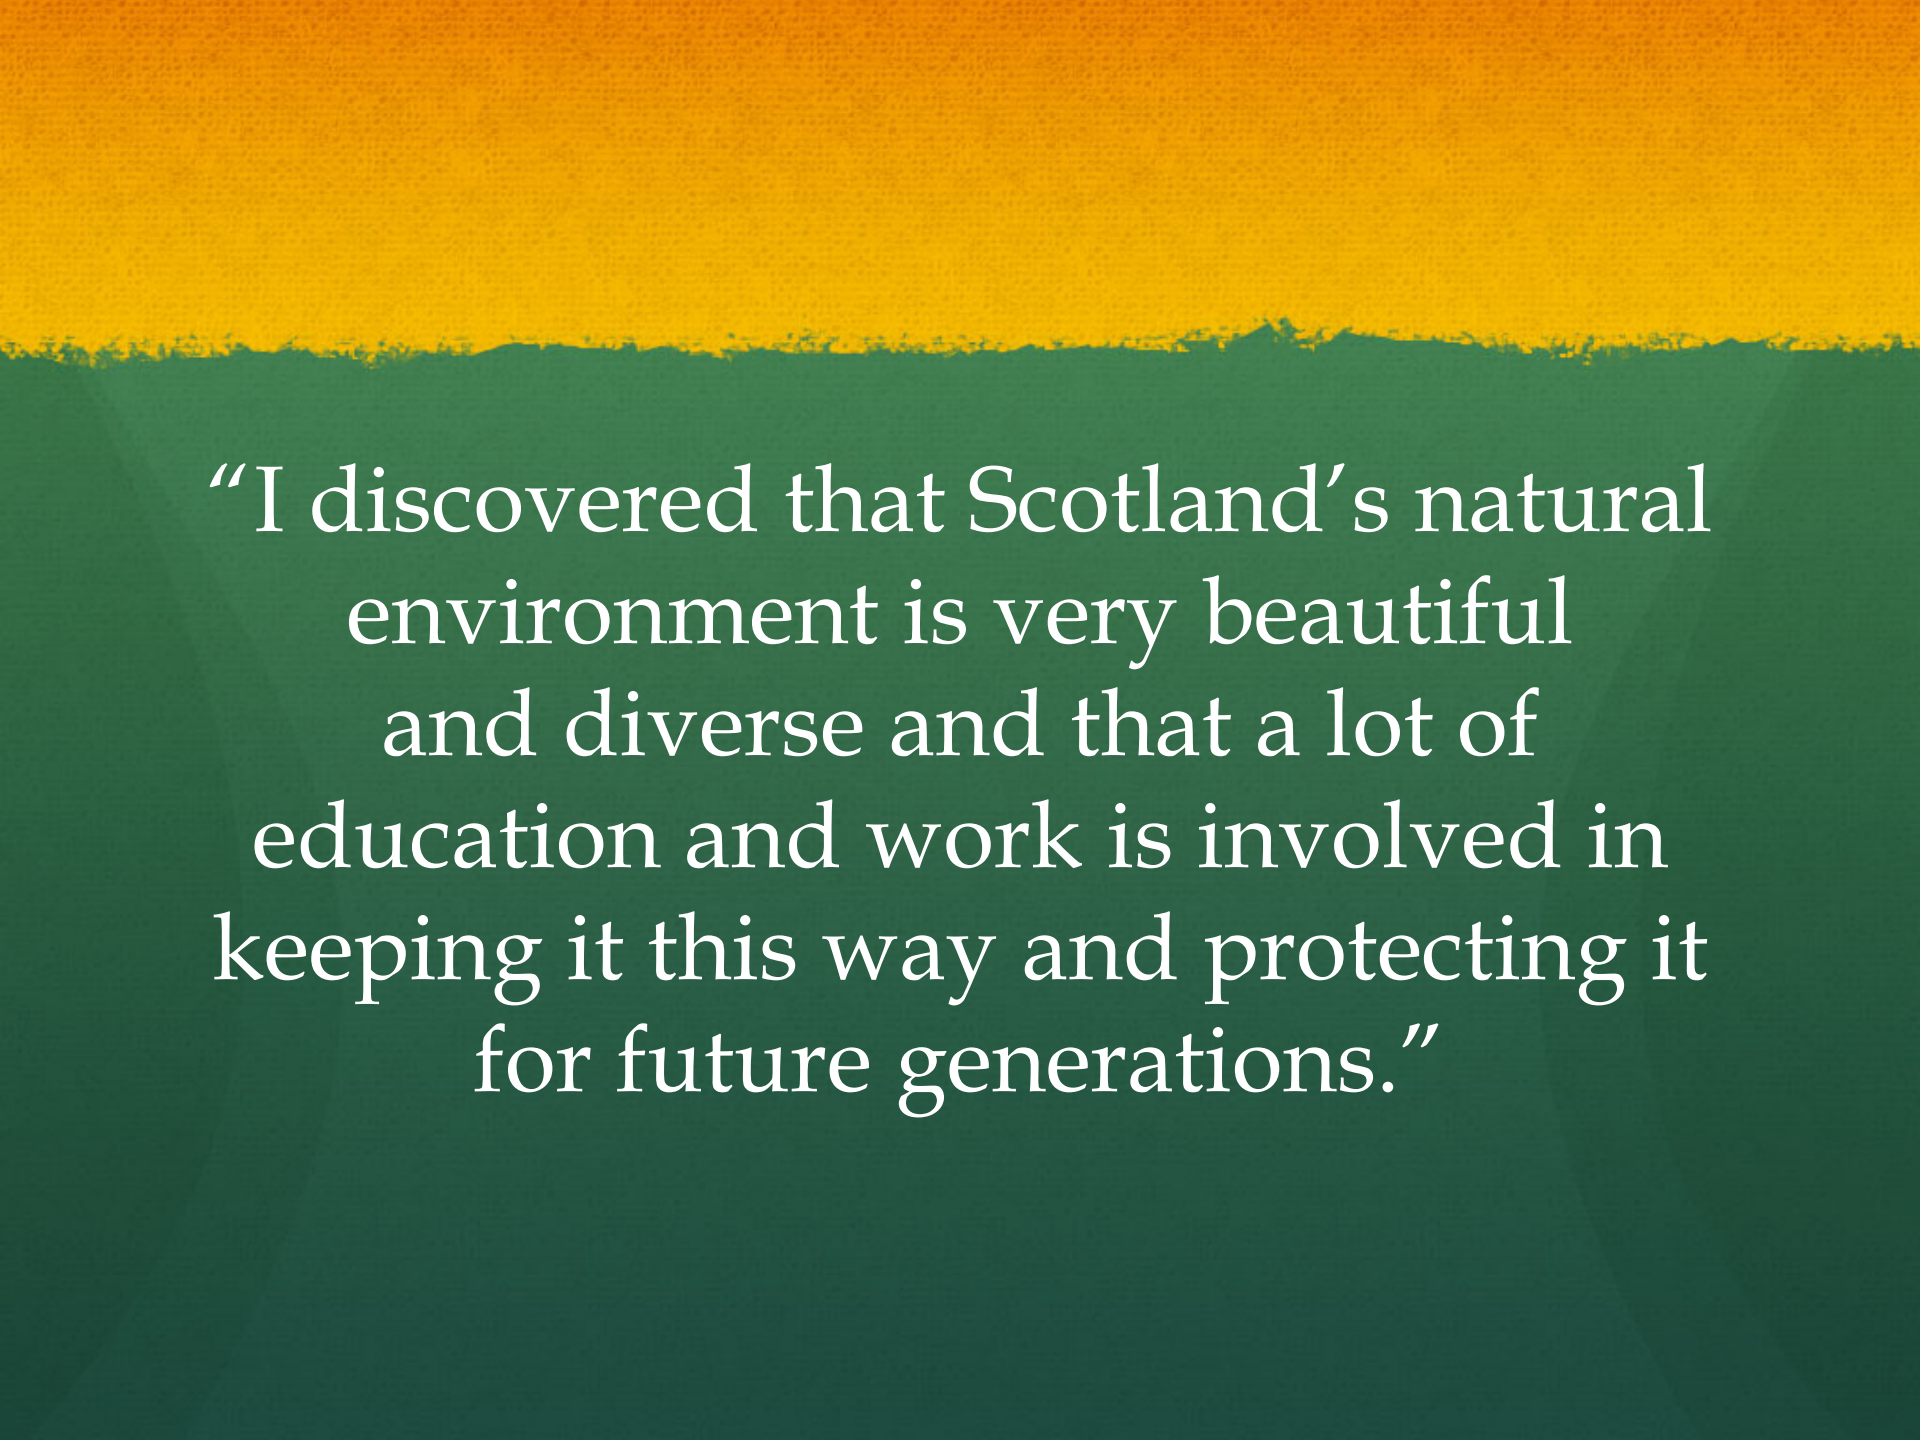

“Scotland's natural environment is amazingly beautiful. A heaven to be treasured and preserved for future generations.”

The variety

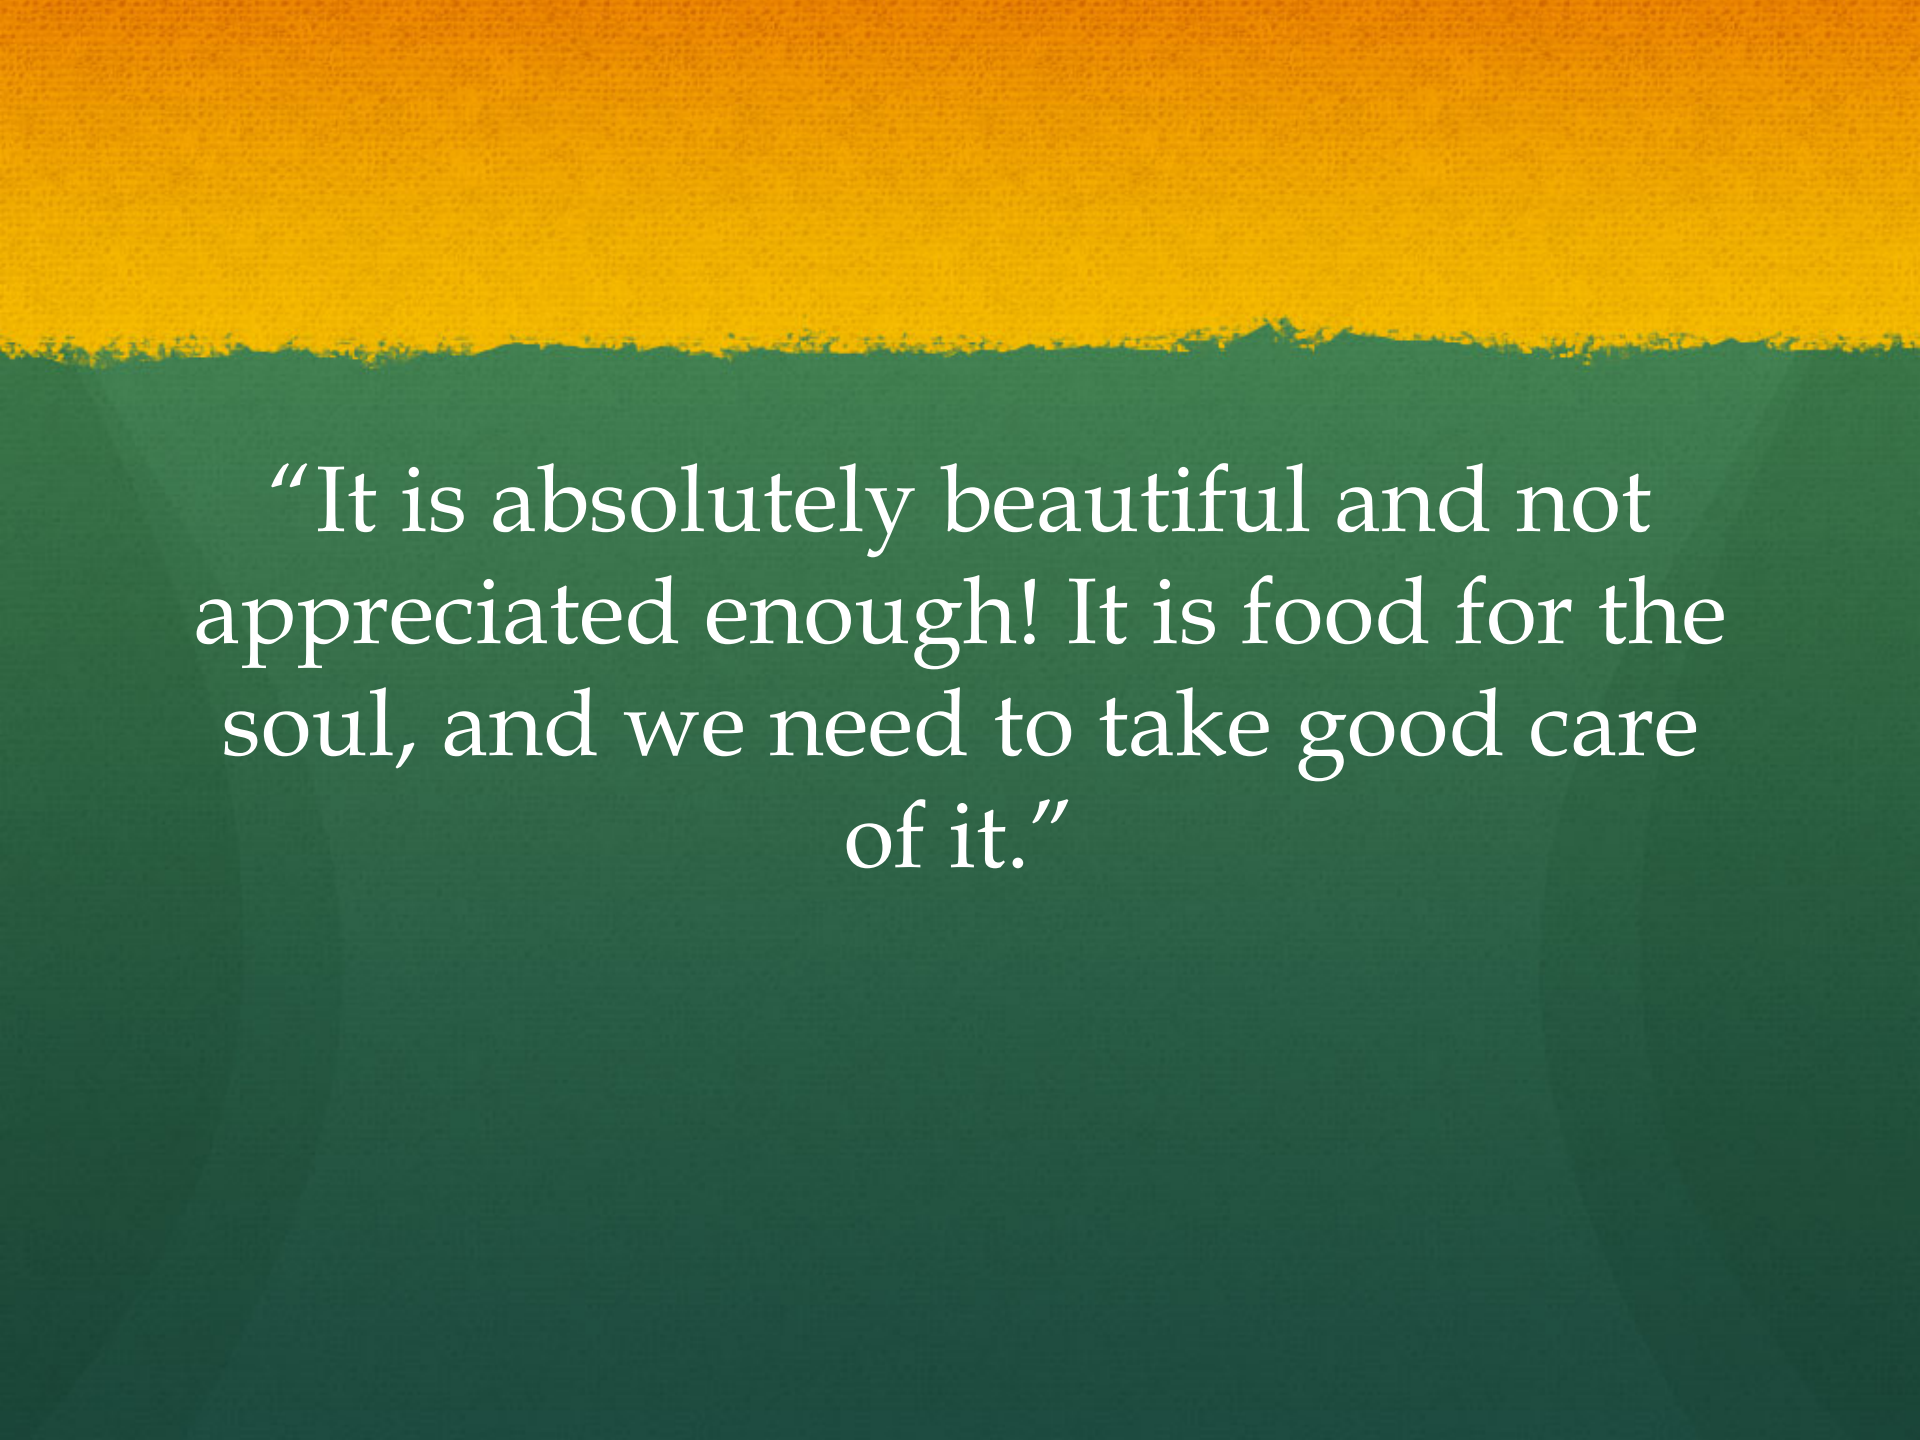

“I discovered that Scotland’s natural environment is very beautiful and diverse and that a lot of education and work is involved in keeping it this way and protecting it for future generations.”

The remoteness

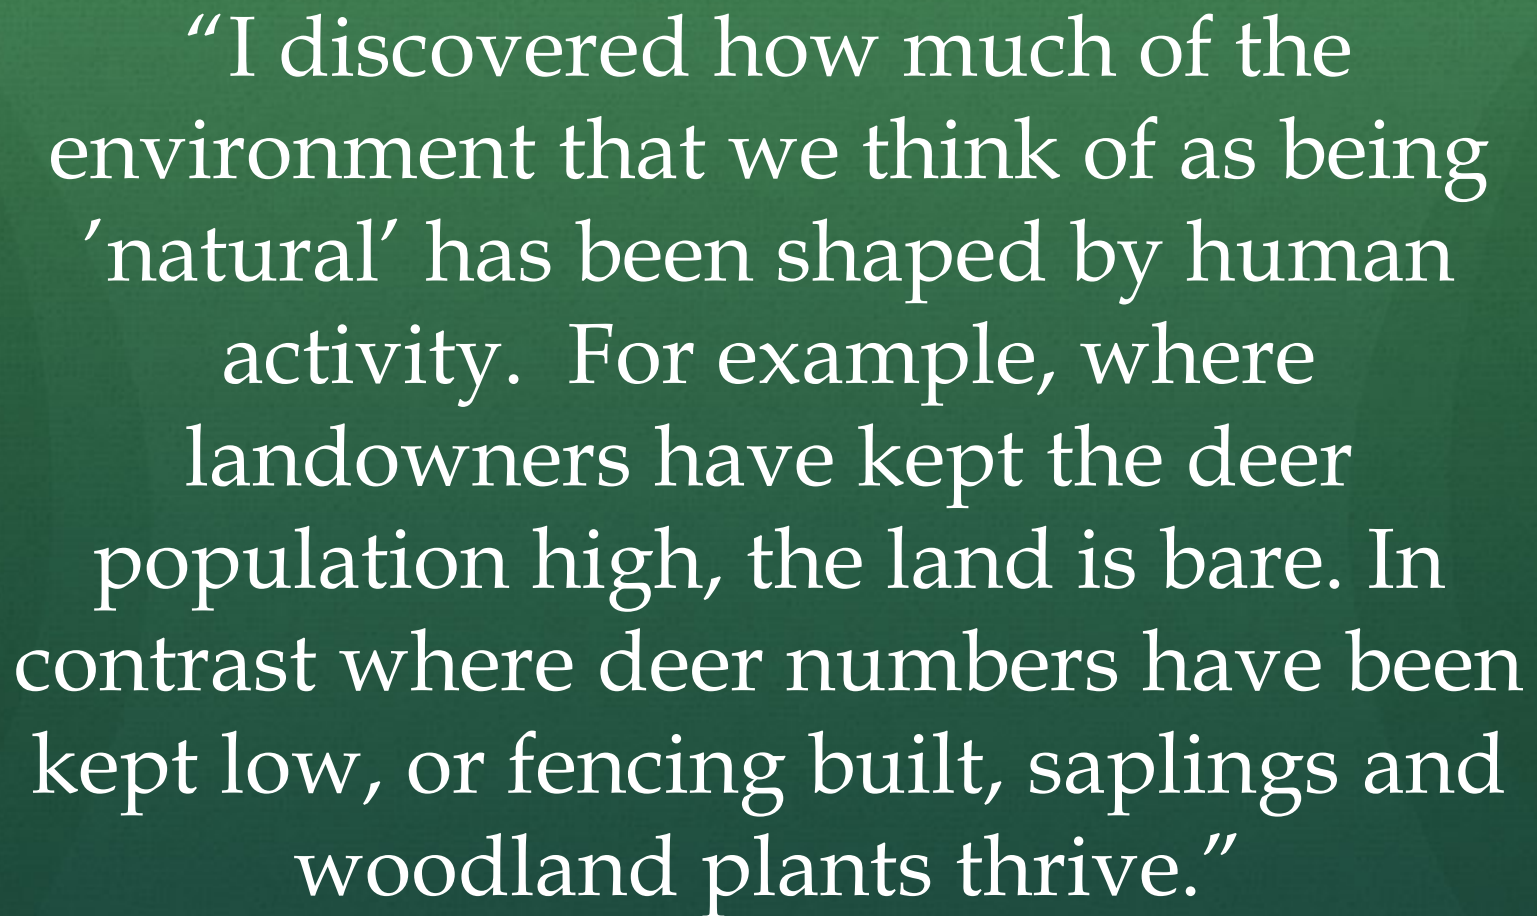

“It is absolutely beautiful and not appreciated enough! It is food for the soul, and we need to take good care of it.”

The ease of access

It is easily accessible through forestry commission car parks and information leaflets/websites

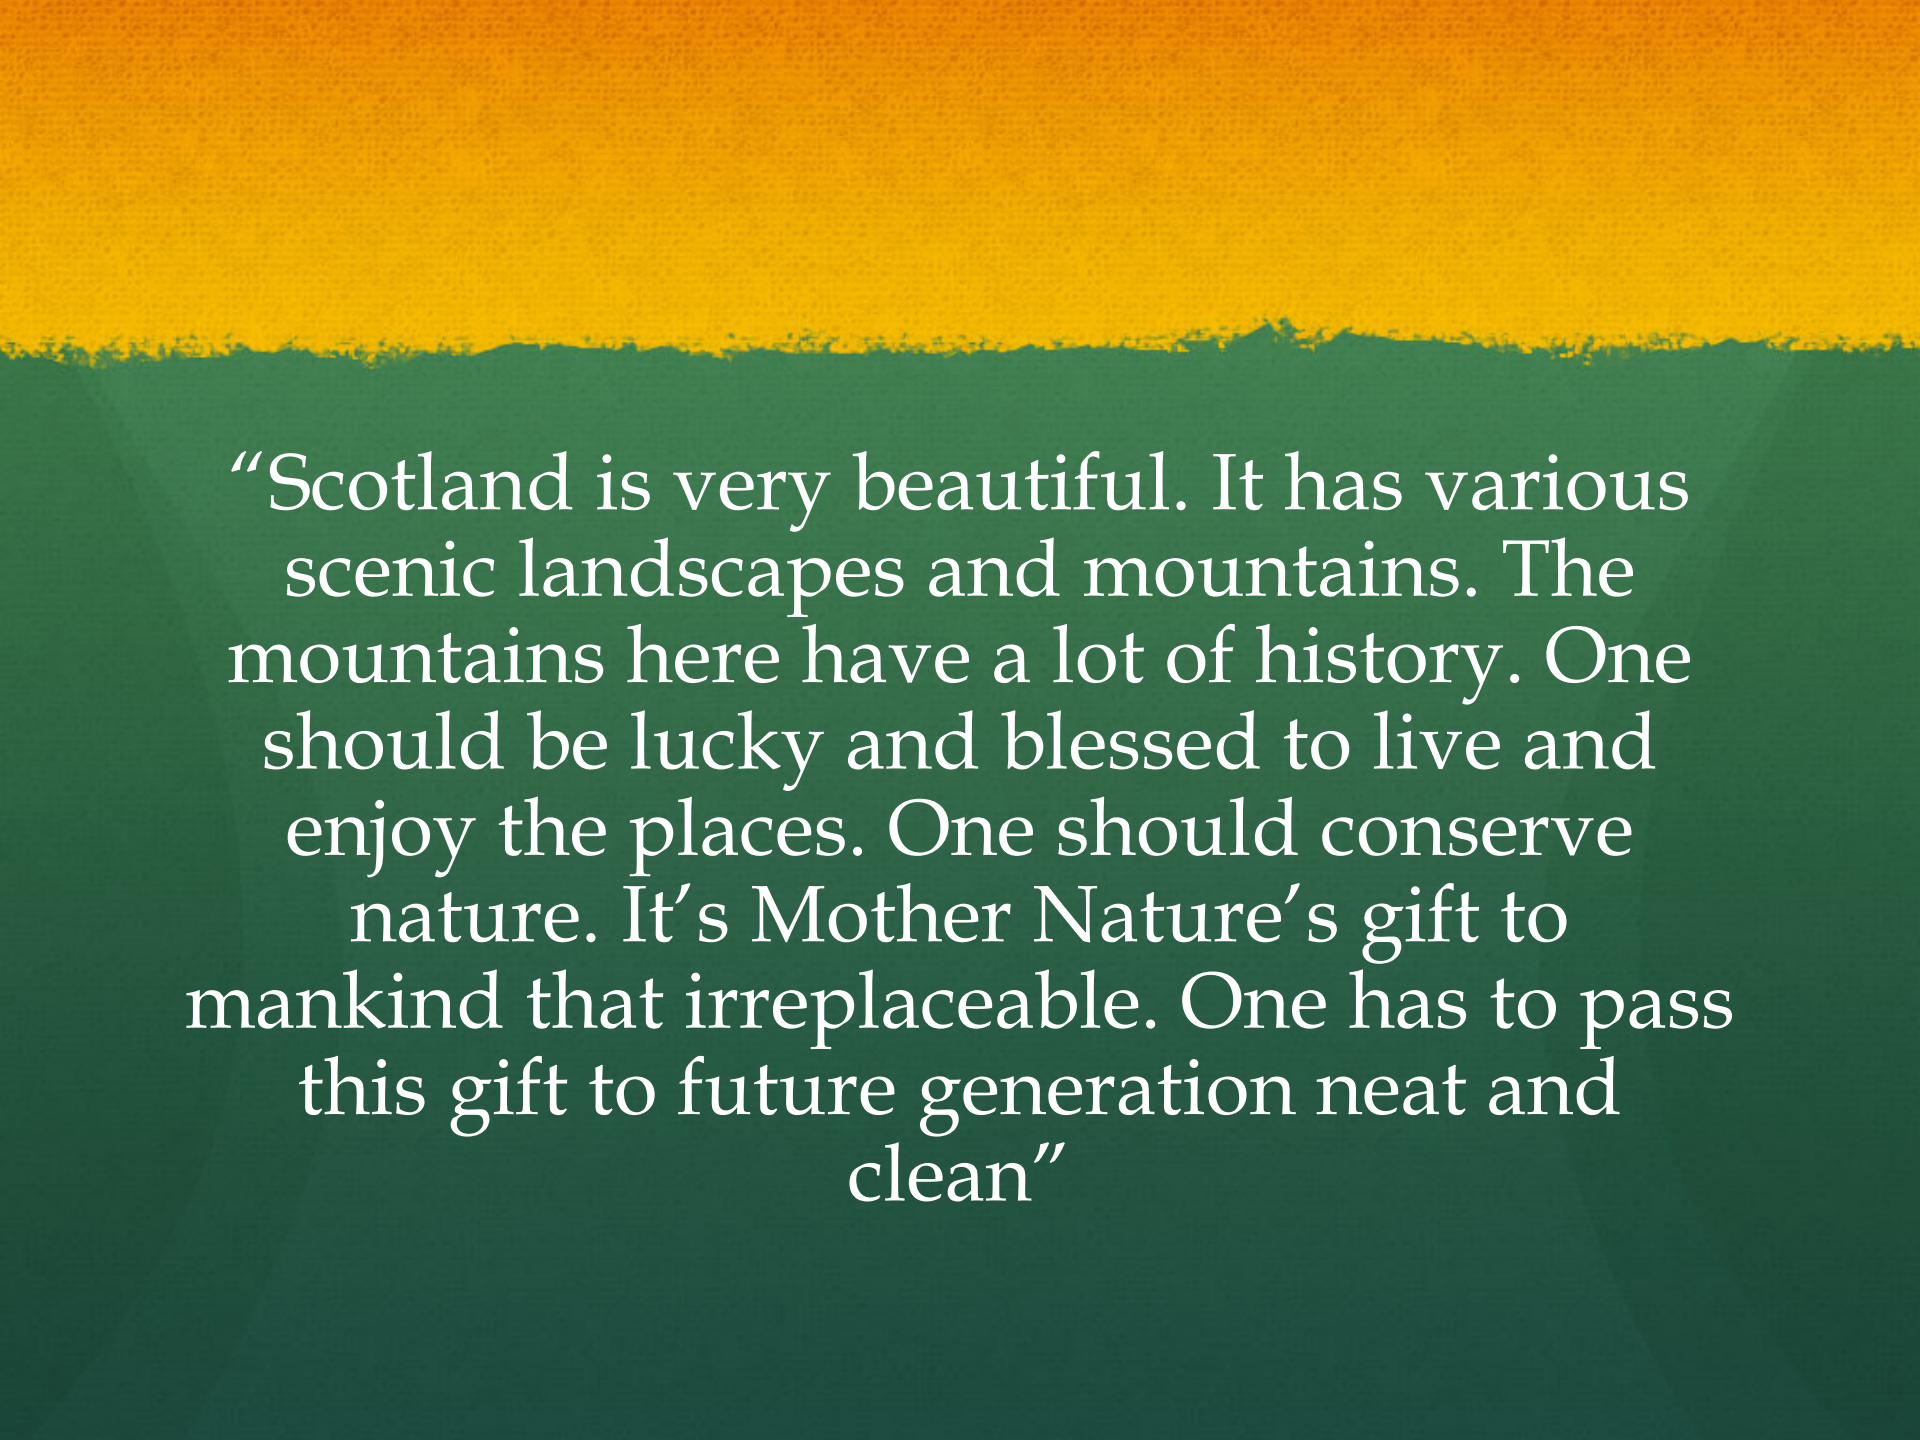

“I discovered how much of the environment that we think of as being ‘natural’ has been shaped by human activity. For example, where landowners have kept the deer population high, the land is bare. In contrast where deer numbers have been kept low, or fencing built, saplings and woodland plants thrive.”

How to make the most of it

Tea

“Scotland is very beautiful. It has various scenic landscapes and mountains. The mountains here have a lot of history. One should be lucky and blessed to live and enjoy the places. One should conserve nature. It's Mother Nature's gift to mankind that irreplaceable. One has to pass this gift to future generation neat and clean”

How to make the most of it

Medicine

How to make the most of it

Shelter built in 30 minutes

How to make the most of it

Fire

How to preserve it

Looking after paths, wild life and minimal impact

How to explore it

How to navigate it

26/04/2014

...and how to enjoy it!

By sharing it with others

...and stay fit!

Thank you Pammy!
Thank you Backbone!
And thank you to the group!